

1945

Haweyan

FOREWORD

College days pass swiftly. Hardly ere it gets underway, the year is gone and, with it, countless hard tasks and much tedious labor. Left with us, however, is the radiant glow of many happy events and associations which have molded the days and weeks and months into golden memories of our college life. For us to retain through the years some sort of record of the past year at Morris Harvey College, we have attempted to recapture and to keep some of these events in pictorial form.

The 1945 yearbook is far from complete and its pages are filled with imperfections. Limitations of time and restrictions of materials because of the war have weighed heavily upon our staff. Omissions have necessarily been made. For all of these, we are sure you will understand and forgive. Our only hope is that the results we have been able to accomplish will be of some value to our readers.

We are grateful for the fine spirit of co-operation on the part of the faculty and administration, and for the fullest measure of support from the students. To those students who worked so long and tirelessly to make the Harveyan possible, we wish to express our undying appreciation. Without them the 1945 Harveyan could not have been.

While an imposing new campus is about to rise on South Ruffner opposite the state capitol, Morris Harvey classes are now held in different parts of the city. In upper right is the Kanawha County Library building in which are located the administration offices, library and most of the class rooms. Upper left is YWCA where women's physical education classes are held. Immediately below is Mercer School where chemistry and physics laboratories are located. To the right is YMCA where men's physical education is taught.

Alma Mater

To Dean Ashby Carlyle Blackwell . . .

we dedicate the 1945 Harveyan

Kindly, gracious, courteous, scholarly, and full of understanding, Dean Blackwell sums up for most students the real spirit of Morris Harvey College. Quiet, impeccable Virginia gentleman with a genius for science, he skillfully handles the problems of students, faculty and public as they stream through his busy office day by day—always with twinkling humor and heartening warmth.

Dean Blackwell is one of the pillars of the College. For 24 years he has been on its faculty, has been its vice president for twelve years, its treasurer for three years, and for the past four years has served as dean. Patiently and tirelessly he works day and night for the College, but he is never too busy to listen to the woes of a timid freshman. He goes about his many tasks with a calm deliberateness that has become proverbial. A graduate of Randolph-Macon College, Dr. Blackwell heads the department of chemistry, is national president of Chi Beta Phi honorary scientific fraternity, is faculty advisor of the Student Council, the Panhellenic Council and Zeta Kappa fraternity, and takes part in many educational undertakings. He is treasurer of the Charleston Lions Club, a member of St. John's Episcopal Church, and is our idea of a real gentleman and scholar. To him the students affectionately dedicate this year's edition of the Harveyan.

President Leonard Riggleman

Distinguished educator, popular public speaker, dynamic civic leader, President Riggleman has given to Morris Harvey such splendid leadership in the fourteen years he has so ably served as president that the College has grown tremendously. Under a sound financial policy which he has attained for the College, the institution goes forward on its great expansion program to which the president is giving his fullest energy. Dr. Riggleman's genial personality and fine wit are familiar to all who know Morris Harvey College.

Faculty

Morris Harvey's faculty is an exceptionally fine one, with fully a third of its members holding doctorates, a large percentage for any college. Under the stress of war times, our faculty members contribute largely to the continued growth of the College, while doing their part in home front activities.

Morris Harvey's Wartime Program Intensive, Varied, Practical

Serving the needs of the times, Morris Harvey College offers a full program of courses especially adapted to those students who are getting their college education while working in war industries. In the evening and occupational courses, studies are offered in practically every field—chemistry, business administration, secretarial science, salesmanship, geography, speech, religion, philosophy, history, mathematics, sociology, foreign languages.

Senior Class

Janice Lovaine Thumm, Senior class president, has a talent for hard work. Serving as acting librarian of the College, she is also president of the choir, a veteran member of Student Council, is vice president of Phi Lambda Tau, an officer of the Christian Service Club. She was in the '44 May Court, and has been in Who's Who for two years. An English major, she plans to continue in the library field after getting her A.B. in May.

Doris E. Anderson, Natural Science major, plans to graduate in August, then enter the teaching profession. A native Charlestonian, she has completed all her college education at MHC except her junior year, when she attended Ohio U. She is secretary of the Senior class, member of FTA, Alpha Mu sorority, and Epsilon Sigma chapter of Chi Beta Phi fraternity, and is listed in Who's Who Among Students for 1945.

Carmalee Bailey, May graduate, majored in Sociology and intends to be a social worker after graduation. She is a member of the Philharmonic choir, and Phi Lambda Tau sorority.

Louise S. Bryant will receive her B.S. in Elementary Education in August, to further equip herself for the teaching profession she has already entered. In addition to work completed at MHC, she has attended Glenville, Ohio U., and W. Va. Tech. She is now teaching at Chelyan.

J. Ronald Casto, pastor of the Snow Hill-Ranch church, and star of the Zeta Kappa pantomime in Pan-Hell's assembly program, is a Sociology major and will graduate in May. In addition to membership in the ZK frat, Casto is a member of the Ministerial association and was listed in Who's Who Among Students for 1945.

Marie Williams Cochran, who hails from East Bank, majored in Sociology and is going ahead with her teaching profession after she gets her B.S. in Elementary Education in August. She also attended W. Va. Tech.

Opal Smith Faulkner, who was a member of the February class, received her B.S. in Elementary Education with a major in Social Science. Some of her college work was completed at Marshall.

Seniors

Seniors

Dorothy Leola Ferrell, resident of Chelyan, will graduate in August with a B.S. in Elementary Education, and a major in Sociology, and has already begun her career in the teaching profession.

Roselyn Garnette, vivacious redhead, president of Sigma Iota Chi, and the George S. Laidley chapter of F. T. A., will receive a B.S. in Secondary Education in August. She is secretary of Pan-Hell and was listed in 1945 college Who's Who.

Jeanette Kyle Hamilton, another February graduate, received a B.S. in Elementary Education with a major in Sociology. A teacher, she also attended Concord State.

Margaret Brown Hudnall, Social Science major, will be a member of the August class. Part of her preparation for the teaching profession was acquired from W. Va. Tech, where she was also a student.

Angelyn Faith Kelley, Phi Lambda Tau sorority president, is one of the most active members of the senior class. A Biology major, she hopes some day to be a pediatrician. She is secretary of the Philharmonic Choir, senior class representative in Student Council, is a member of Chi Beta Phi, Panhellenic Council, and Christian Service Club. She is in the May Court for the second consecutive year, is listed in this year's college Who's Who, and is consistently on the honor roll.

Winona Mae Marshall, Art major, is Harveyan Art editor and intends to begin her art instruction in the secondary schools next fall. She is vice president of Alpha Mu sorority, vice president of the senior class, and was Student Council representative of the class in her junior year. She is a member of the May Court for the second time, and is listed in this year's Who's Who Among Students. She is also a member of Blackfriars.

Ruth Noble, treasurer of the Morris Harvey Guild, will graduate in August with a major in English. An elementary school teacher, she is a transfer student from W. Va. Tech.

Mary Beatrice Overfield, a Sociology major, received her B.S. degree in August. Previously she attended New River State, Glenville Normal and Marshall Colleges. At the present, she is teaching in Watts School.

Charles Pelzel came to Morris Harvey from Lehigh University and Emory and Henry College. Business Administration major, he plans to enter into Real Estate after receiving his A.B. in May. Charlie is a Phi Sig, and the proud owner of a camera which has taken several of the snapshots included in this annual.

Margaret Perry, an English major, received her degree in Elementary Education in February. A native of Kanawha County, she was a student at Virginia Tech and Marshall before she came here. She is busily engaged now in her chosen occupation.

Ruth Pyles, a Social Science major, received her Bachelor of Science in Elementary Education in February. She is a member of Sigma Iota Kappa sorority, and is at present teaching at Leeville Junior High School.

Lula West Schoonover graduated in February with a B.S. in Secondary Education and a major in English. She was a member of Phi Lambda Chi sorority, Future Teachers of America, and is listed in this year's college Who's Who.

Seniors

Seniors

Opal E. Street, May graduate, is a transfer student from Marshall college and Ashland junior college. This mother of several boys is a Social Science major and will receive a B.S. in Elementary Education.

Christine Walker is an English major, will receive her degree in May. She is a member of Phi Kappa Sigma sorority and was in this year's May Court. She also attended Maryland College for Women and Miami University.

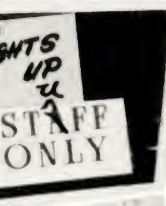

Wilhelmina Shaver Williams, August graduate, will receive her A.B. degree in English, and plans to continue in the teaching field. Miss Williams is a resident of East Bank, and received some of her college training at West Virginia Tech.

Francis Wilson, student body president, is the busiest person on the campus. In addition to his full time job as pastor of Vandalia Methodist Church, he is president of Zeta Kappa fraternity, editor of the Harveyan, president of the Ministerial Association, vice president of the Blackfriars, a member of Christian Service Club. He is listed in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Two members of the February class were graduated while in service. At the right is Pfc. Byron Ashley Thumm, who graduated summa cum laude, winner of 1943 Chi Beta Phi science medal, president of Chi Beta Phi in '42, member of Phi Sigma Phi fraternity, Philharmonic Choir, Christian Service Club, and twice listed in Who's Who. On the left is Flight Officer George Houghton Robson, pictured with his wife and daughter shortly before going to France. He was a student in Kanawha College before the merger and also attended W. V. U., where he was a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

Junior Class

Affable, vivacious Betty Hallanan is president of the Junior class, in addition to guiding the destinies of the Blackfriars, Panhellenic Council and Phi Kappa Sigma sorority. She also serves on the Student Council, and can always be counted upon to lend her smiling presence to every kind of student activity which she can help keep going. She was the 1945 May Queen, and will serve as Student Body president in 1945-46.

Student Council

The Council published a new Student Handbook at the beginning of the current year, sponsored a party for the Freshmen, joined with the Christian Service Club in staging the all-school Christmas party, successfully promoted drives to raise funds for the World Student Service Fund and the Red Cross, and to collect clothes in the United Nations Clothing Drive.

The Student Forum is one of the activities carried on by the Student Council. Among the speakers brought before the student body were Howard Chernoff, Rev. E. L. Honts, Dr. Joseph Clare Hoffman, and Rev. Herman Mees Meyer.

The Council presented the college with a $100 war bond to start a fund to purchase a bronze honor roll plaque for the new campus.

In the annual elections in May, Student Body officers for 1945-46 were named. They are: Betty Hallanan, president; Mary Jean Groscup, vice president; Okey Wiley, secretary-treasurer; and Vandall Knapp, sergeant-at-arms.

Third row: Jo Alice McIlhattan, Panhellenic representative, Joan Morton, Roberta Riggelman.

This year marks the twentieth anniversary of Alpha Mu, the oldest sorority in Morris Harvey. The chapter remained active throughout the summer term last year, its activities consisting of Red Cross work and social programs.

The annual Fashion Tea marked the opening of social activities in the fall. The first semester rush party was carried out with a gypsy theme. A dinner for the new pledges was given at the Terrace after pledging.

Rushees for the second semester were entertained with a theater party, and a short time later the active chapter was hostess to the alumnae at a program meeting.

Three members of Alpha Mu were elected to Who's Who Among Students of American Universities and Colleges, three members are in Student Council, and two members were elected to Chi Beta Phi, national honorary scientific fraternity. Five of the sorority sisters were attendants at the May Festival.

Pledges are Bette Pierce, Virginia Younkman, Eloise Kessell, Betty Fisher, and Virginia Bailey.

Third row: Rose Ellen Tully, Christine Walker, Peggy Woodall, treasurer.

Phi Kappa Sigma, a local sorority founded in 1928, is an organization established to advance and enrich social life in the college, to make closer friends, and to train for social life after college. The sorority members are chosen from the women students carrying at least twelve hours with a C average, who have high moral and religious standards.

The sorority entertained the freshman girls at the opening of school with their annual Twilight Tea which is held each year to help new women students in the college to become acquainted with the school. Many traditional social events at Morris Harvey have been sponsored by Phi Kappa Sigma. The present war situation has, however, caused curtailment of these activities.

Phi Kappa Sigma lists among its members the May Queen, one elected to Who's Who Among American College Students and one member in Student Council.

Pledges are Betty Dawson and Sheila Daly.

Third row: Geneva Nicely, Mary Lee Slack, Betty Robson, Lula Schoonover, Gloria Peek, Janice Thumm, vice president.

Fourth row: Mary Lee Warner, Christine Williams, guide; Genevieve Wolfe, Helen Young.

Phi Lambda Tau, the largest sorority on the campus, was founded in 1929. The sorority opened an active season with its annual tea in the clubroom of the Daniel Boone Hotel. Fall rushees were entertained with a Southern Dinner at Christ Methodist Church. The pledge service was held two weeks later in South Hills. Shortly after, the actives were guests at a Valentine party given by the pledges.

Hell Week saw some startling costumes parading through the halls, as the pledges were required to dress resembling their favorite characters in literature or history.

Second semester rushing consisted of a Spaghetti Dinner. One of the highlights of the season was a joint weiner roast in April with the Zeta Kappa Fraternity. The annual spring banquet held in May climaxed the social season.

Four members were elected to Who's Who in American Colleges, three are members of Student Council and three were attendants at the May Festival. One member was elected to Chi Beta Phi.

Pledges are Susan Crosier, Mary Keller, Helen Harper, Vivian Jones, Mary Jane Honaker, Fayelda Brua, Doris Skiles, Frances Hawkins.

The Beta Nu Chapter of Sigma Iota Chi, Morris Harvey's only national sorority, was established on the campus in 1936. A social organization, still it maintains high scholastic requirements and stresses the importance of scholastic achievements.

The purpose of the sorority is to carry out the meaning of sisterhood and to try to reach the highest standard possible, mentally, morally and physically.

The sorority is represented in volunteer services with the Civilian Air Patrol and the Red Cross as a patriotic contribution. The sorority also co-operated with the Phi Sigma Phi fraternity in a rummage sale and a fishing trip was given in honor of the fraternity.

Highlight of social activities was a formal dance given for the entire student body.

Pledges are Becky Baldock, Maxine Halstead, Virginia Kessell, Mary Tormey, Mary Lorene Williamson.

"To unite young men from various localities, to instill a feeling of campus fellowship, to promote the interests of the college and to open doors of social activity that might otherwise be closed," is the object of the Phi Sigma Phi fraternity, founded on the campus of Concord State Teachers' College in Athens, West Virginia, in 1927.

Two years later, Beta Chapter of the fraternity was organized in Morris Harvey College on November 14.

Sponsors of the organization are Professor John Hiersoux and Professor H. M. Brawley. Character, scholarship, and leadership is the motto of the Phi Sigma Phi, and green and white are the fraternity colors. The cape jasmine is the flower.

The fraternity was reactivated at the beginning of the school term with two active members and a pledge class of eight. The annual rushee smoker was held in the fall at the Daniel Boone Hotel. A similar smoker was held for second semester rushees. The social year was dotted with several combination smoker-dinners. A rummage sale was held in conjunction with the Sigma Iota Chi sorority in May.

One member was elected to Who's Who Among American College Students and two members are in Student Council.

Pledges are Bradley Gee, Gene Pettit, Charles Thom, Sam Lowry, and Joe Van Winkle.

Zeta Kappa fraternity, which has a national charter, is the oldest Greek letter organization on the campus, founded March 14, 1923. Inactive for a brief period because of the war, the chapter became active again during the middle of the year and has been very active in student activities.

The fraternity observed its twenty-second anniversary on March 14 by serving a huge birthday cake to the entire student body. Smokers were held at the Daniel Boone hotel during the rush periods, and several social affairs were given, one of them being a joint weiner roast with the Phi Lambda Tau sorority in April.

In the May Day ceremonies May 4, Zeta Kappa presented May Queen Betty Hallanan with a gold bracelet in honor of her coronation. In a ceremony May 14, Eleanor Johnson was proclaimed "1945 Sweetheart of Zeta Kappa."

The Zekes hold many important honors in the school, including president of the Student Body, president Chi Beta Phi, editor of the Harveyan, two members of the Student Council, two in Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges.

Pledges are Bill Parsons, Joe Jeffcott, Sylvestus Henson, Charles Camp, James Chenoweth, and Britton Lavender.

The Panhellenic Council, established on the campus in 1938, functions to obtain closer co-operation among sororities and fraternities in college activities.

Membership in the Council is composed of the president and one member elected from every Greek organization, with three faculty members chosen by the Council.

The group has general supervision over Rush Week activities and other affairs in which the Greek letter organizations take part. The Council entertained with a reception at the Daniel Boone hotel honoring the 1945 May Queen and her attendants.

Chi Beta Phi

Chi Beta Phi is a national honorary scientific fraternity whose aims are to foster interest in science and to stimulate proficiency in science courses. Dean Ashby C. Blackwell is national president of the fraternity, which has chapters in several colleges in the United States.

Epsilon chapter, installed in Morris Harvey College on May 19, 1923, consists entirely of men. For the purpose of promoting scholarship, the chapter awards annually a medal, called the Chi Beta Phi science medal, to that student of the college who attains the highest average on the first 24 hours of college science, provided that the average is 90 per cent or above. The present active members of the chapter are: Arthur L. Maloy, president; Woodrow Wilson White, vice president; Dean Ashby C. Blackwell, secretary-treasurer; Gustave A. Anderson, Robert L. Eagan, Dr. C. J. Harris, Willard J. Hess, John Holsclaw, James S. Lovell, Dr. Ralph V. Merry, Dr. P. E. Roller, Byron Stewart, Dr. W. H. Walker, and Edgar S. Washburn.

Epsilon Sigma chapter, established on the campus March 31, 1939, consists of women. Chapter officers are Jo Alice McIlhattan, president; Violet Holmes, vice president; Virginia Robson, secretary; Llewelyn Cole, treasurer. Other active members include Doris Anderson, Angelyn Kelley, Martha Cole, Dr. Frieda Merry, Mrs. Dortha K. Doolittle, Bettie Short, and Joan Jordan.

The Christian Service Club serves as a unifying force for the promotion of Christian ideals in the college. It is composed not only of students who are preparing for the ministry or for full-time religious service, but also of those who have chosen the Christian way of life and who are interested in the work of the Church.

In order that religious interest and religious activity among the students may best be stimulated, the Club pursues the cultivation of fellowship and the desire to participate in Christian social action on the campus, in the college community and in the world at large. Devotional services are held each Wednesday at noon.

The Club co-operates with the Methodist Student Movement, the National Student Christian Movement, the Young Men's Christian Association, the Young Women's Christian Association, and the World Student Service Fund.

Director Hiersoux

Janice Thumm, President

The Morris Harvey Philharmonic Choir, with forty-five voices, is under the capable direction of John Hiersoux, Jr., president of the Charleston Chamber Music Players and former president of the Charleston Symphony Orchestra. During the past year several appearances were made in the schools of the city, although transportation handicaps prevented the usual trips out of town. The choir was heard in a number of the assemblies of the year and was featured in the May Festival.

Principal social event was a Christmas party at the home of President and Mrs. Leonard Riggleman, which came as a climax to caroling in the city hospitals, the Governor's mansion, and in private homes.

The Blackfriars Dramatic Club presented two plays during the year. The first, a one-act comedy entitled, "Hist! She's A Man," by George York, was staged December 18 at St. John's parish house. Barbara Jean Long directed and the cast included Lorraine Kinder, Carolyn Major, Elsie Toovy, Austin Herschberger, Charles Husson, Vandall Knapp, and Bob Campbell.

The second production was the well known three-act drama, "Little Women," adapted by John D. Ravold from the heart-warming Civil War story by Louisa M. Alcott. This was given April 13 at Thomas Jefferson junior high school under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Wilson. The cast was composed of Lorraine Kinder, Peggy Woodall, Helen Kessell, Elizabeth Grayson, Rosemond Gadd, Barbara Jean Long, Francis Wilson, Kenneth Clark, Bob Campbell, and Austin Herschberger. "Little Women" was highly successful, despite an almost tragic fire during dress rehearsal which destroyed the stage curtain, the jinx of Friday the 13th, and the shock of the sudden death of President Roosevelt.

The sets for "Little Women" were designed and built by the Blackfriars, and will be left to the college dramatic group as a nucleus of stage equipment for future productions.

Acknowledgment of Appreciation

The business staff would like to take this opportunity to thank the editors, photographers, printers, and their assistants, for their many hours of hard work on our yearbook.

We also wish to express our appreciation to those who were largely responsible for the financial success of this 1944-45 Harveyan—our advertisers.

Sincerely,

BETTY STOWERS,

Business Manager

The business of supplying electric service began modestly. There were scoffers and skeptics a-plenty. But other men with courage and imagination risked their money and went ahead. Today under sound business management America enjoys the best and the most electric service in the world,—and over 80% of it is generated by tax-paying business-managed electric light and power companies.

These power companies have met the tremendous wartime demands for electric power without delay, shortages or rationing. Then, too, they have held the price of electricity at any all-time low while other costs went up.
